

ABSTRACT

A new cultivar of Convolvulus named 'MOROCCAN BEAUTY' that is characterized, by prostrate habit, short internodes, medium-green leaves, and violet
5 flowers in spring, summer and fall. In combination these traits set 'MOROCCAN BEAUTY' apart from all other existing varieties of Convolvulus known to the inventor.